

I've seen it all before.

Every day, no matter what, it feels as if I've done it all before. In the same order. Everyone seems to be stuck in a loop; and I think I am too. I know what happens next; every time.

It's driving me crazy.

It's all the same. Nothing is changing. It has all happened before; I'm sure of it. I know what people are going to say before they do. I know what happens to my family before it happens.

Something is happening to me.

Everything is still the same, but it seems like people are slowly fading out. It's like they are being taken away, but I still do the same things. Every. Single. Day.

It's coming.

I've seen it all. I know what comes next. Nothing will be the same, but at the same time, it will. Even though I know these things, it doesn't stop me. I'm stuck in The Loop.

Uh oh.

It's happening. The end of everything. I could have prevented it. I could have saved my family. But it was not meant to be. If it was, I would have been out of The Loop... right?

I'm stuck forever.

Help me. I can't escape. I'm stuck doing the same things, even though everyone else is gone. I still talk to them, even though there is nothing there.

SAVE ME.

I CAN'T ESCAPE THIS PLACE. IT'S LIKE THEY ARE TRYING TO TORTURE ME. THE DEMONS OF MY PAST WON'T LEAVE ME ALONE FOR ONE MINUTE!

It's over.

They did it. Nobody can save me now. It's too late. They talked to me. They have me.

-----

On November 30, 2022, Miles (a.k.a Mike) Lewis was pronounced dead. He was missing for 3 days, until they found his body. He had deep slashes in his chest. Authorities suspect the murder may be linked to the disappearance of one Judy Levine, who is a suspect in the murders of Daniel Levine, August Levine, and Courtney Levine. The above evidence is all they have. It seems it may be a code.